
Student Church Dedicates Service To Negro Heritage

A candle-light service based on Negro spirituals, poems, and prose which contribute to our religious heritage was featured at Student Church, at 7:00 p. m. last Sunday. Included in the program were Mel Woodward, Lorraine Pettie, John Harmon, John Faucett, Elois Hamlin and Alice May Buell.

The spiritual in the program was "Steal Away". The narrator described early spirituals as pleas for relief from the physical and emotional strains.

~~Booker T. Washington and Paul Lawrence Dunbar were credited with furthering the Negroes' growth.~~ These men, through their writings, fostered the feeling that God stimulates one "to make a constructive effort to rise toward higher things". John Harmon gave Dunbar's poem, "By Rugged Paths", an excellent reading.
